DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-3, 6, 8-9, 14-22, 36-44, and 64-75 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102 (e) as being anticipated by Beamish; Norman J. et al. [US 6694143 B1].

As per claims 1, 14, 36, 64, 71, Beamish teaches:

A method (Abstract) comprising:

Receiving at a mobile telecommunications terminal a command that reads the value of a datum, (e.g. For example, the local wireless communication system infrastructure in an airplane may send a command to all cell phones within its range to turn off at the time the airplane leaves the gate. As another example, a local wireless communication system infrastructure in a concert hall may send a command to change a cell phone from ringing mode to vibrate mode during a concert. The command may be any kind of command. The command can change any operating characteristic or function of the communication device, or cause the communication device to execute any set of instructions; Col.2; 22-49, Col.6; 51-Col.7; 10) and Determining whether to execute said command based on said geo-location of said mobile telecommunications terminal and on said value. (e.g. The command can change any operating characteristic or function of the communication device, or cause the communication device to execute any set of instructions. For instance, the command can change any human perceptible indicator in the communication device such as the display, light, audible signal generator, vibrator and the like. The command may also optionally give the communication device the continued ability to communicate and interact with other communication networks. For instance, a local wireless communication system infrastructure in a concert hall may cause all cell phones and pagers to switch from ringing mode to vibrate mode from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. when a concert is in session. As a result, the cell phones and pagers can still communicate with their own communication networks to receive calls and pages, but an operating characteristic of the cell phones and pagers has been altered; Col.2; 22-49, Col.6; 51-Col.7; 10).

As per claims 2, 15, 37, 18, 40, 72, Beamish teaches:

The method of claims 1, wherein the determination whether to execute said command is also based on the identity of the user of said mobile telecommunications terminal. (e.g. a device's identity; Col.4; 14-30)

As per claims 3, 16, 38, 66, 70, 73, Beamish teaches:

The method of claims 1, wherein the determination whether to execute said command also based on the calendrical time at said mobile telecommunications terminal. (e.g. the time window; Col.2; 22-49, Col.6; 51-Col.7; 10)

As per claims 6, 68, 75, Beamish teaches the method of claims 1, wherein said perimeter is based on an argument of said command. (e.g. the airport or concert hall; Col.2; 22-49, Col.6; 51-Col.7; 10)

As per claims 8, 17, 20, 39, 41-42, 69, Beamish teaches:

The method of claims 1, 48, 58, wherein said command comprises reading a value associated with a descriptor, and wherein said perimeter is based on the geo-location at which said value is stored. (e.g. the airport or concert hall; Col.2; 22-49, Col.6; 51-Col.7; 10)

As per claims 9, 19, Beamish teaches:

The method of claims 1, wherein said command comprises reading a value associated with a descriptor, and wherein said perimeter is based on said descriptor. (e.g the airport or concert hall; Col.2; 22-49, Col.6; 51-Col.7; 10)

As per claim 21, 43, Beamish teaches:

The method of claims 14, 36, wherein a first version of said content is associated with a first medium, and wherein a second version of said content is associated with a second medium. (e.g. the area of airport or concert hall; Col.2; 22-49, Col.6; 51-Col.7; 10)

As per claims 22, 44, Beamish teaches:

Art Unit: 2617

The method of claims 14, 36, wherein a first version of said content is associated with a first authorization category, and wherein a second version of said content is associated with a second authorization category. (e.g. access at the airport or concert hall; Col.2; 22-49, Col.6; 51-Col.7; 10)

As per claim 67, Beamish teaches the method of claims 64, wherein said perimeter is based on the nature of said command. (e.g. the airport or concert hall; Col.2; 22-49, Col.6; 51-Col.7; 10)

Response to Amendments & Remarks

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3, 6, 8-9, 14-22, 36-44, and 64-75, have been fully considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
